When to isolate:

Everyone who has confirmed or presumed COVID-19 should stay home and isolate from other people for a full 5 days. They should wear a mask when around others at home and in public for an additional 5 days or until two (2) sequential negative antigen tests have been taken 48 hours apart. People who are confirmed to have COVID-19 or are showing symptoms of COVID-19 need to isolate regardless of their vaccination status. This includes:

- People who have a positive viral test for COVID-19, regardless of whether or not they have symptoms.
- People with symptoms of COVID-19, including people who are awaiting test results or have not been tested. People with symptoms should isolate even if they do not know if they have been in close contact with someone with COVID-19.
